

About the Greensboro Trails

Highland Lodge

Under new ownership in 2016, Highland Lodge continues a long tradition of lodging in Greensboro. After Hurricane Irene, the Lodge was no longer able to maintain their Nordic trails, so the Craftsbury Outdoor Center began managing them. Today, Highland does have a room for skiers, where you can self-purchase a day pass, but this area is not staffed. In case of emergency, call 911, there is no emergency response staff at Highland Lodge. While cell service is spotty, find a phone either at Highland Lodge, or at the Town Hall (as noted on the map).

Trail Passes

Greensboro residents ski the Greensboro trails at no cost; should you choose to ski over to the Craftsbury Outdoor Center trails, day use fees apply there. Use of the Greensboro Trails is included in all Craftsbury Outdoor Center memberships. If you are neither a Greensboro resident, nor a Craftsbury member (or Craftsbury/Albany resident), please use the self-service station at Highland Lodge to pay for trail use. There is warming room staffed by volunteers on weekends in January in February.

Trail Grooming and Conditions

Trails are groomed one to three times per week, depending on the conditions. Find up to date trail status reports at the Craftsbury website (craftsbury.com/snow) or on the TrailHub app. All trails are groomed for classic skiing, except for the Highland Lodge Trail between Craftsbury Village and Highland Lodge. Skating is permitted and possible on most trails, but they are maintained as more “old school ski touring”. Thank you to Greensboro trail volunteers who help work on and fundraise for maintenance of these trails!

Craftsbury Outdoor Center

The Greensboro Trails are groomed by the Craftsbury Outdoor Center. Craftsbury offers a $5 shuttle from the Outdoor Center to Highland most Winter weekends. Find out more on the website.

When in Greensboro

Highland Lodge

“Highland Lodge’s Farmhouse Rooms and Caspian Cabins are each unique and reflect the fascinating history of the Northeast Kingdom’s rich cultural heritage of famous visitors, authors, and craftsmen. Please inquire about our special amenities, including cabin kitchenettes, wood stoves, clawfoot bathtubs, panoramic lake views, and private covered porches.”
